

Dermal Fillers...

- Specialist Treatments, the Uber Medics Way...

Unlike any other Facial Aesthetic Provider, you are our 'client' and not a 'patient', and by removing that barrier that most practitioners' give, our 'clients' come back to us, time after time, after time...

We have all found it difficult at sometime or another when we have looked at companies prices and found it almost impossible to compare, as they may not have them listed on their website and want you to commit to a consultation before giving you a definite price!

Here, at Uber Medics, we do not have a problem with showing you our prices before your consultation, even before you speak to us...we have nothing to hide, no hidden extra's, we just prefer offering an excellent service, and advanced treatments, with the highest level of expertise and knowledge...

Be assured that we have no hidden extras when researching your costs, thus providing you, our clients, with excellent value for money.

The Science:

Do you know that some dermal fillers that other aesthetic companies use are constituted mainly of animal 'bovine or avian' collagen (from cows skin or birds), thus resulting in allergic reactions for some clients and post treatment problems?

At Uber our chosen products are non-animal based, 'temporary' dermal fillers which replicate our tissues natural composition and that replenishes our own natural Hyaluronic Acid (HA) which is found naturally between the spaces of our cells, this unfortunately declines as we age, leaving us with less volume and structure to our skins.

There is no patch testing required and our preferred products are *Teosyal and Restylane.

The distinguishing factor of these products is the gel particle size. With a selection of products within these ranges tailored to make them as close to the ideal for its intended application and can be used on area of the face, neck and hands, as well as the products being an ethical choice for Uber regards to animal derived products and our beauty industry.

*Teosyal is our first choice...having just won the Aesthetic Medicine Magazine Award, for the Best Injectable Product of the Year category over the 7 leading dermal filler ranges on the market!

Finally...we do not price per syringe as we feel this can be misleading and confusing for our clients – the selection of products in the ranges above will depend on the area to be treated, and depending upon our choice for you, will make a difference to the volume of product per syringe, hence our pricing below:
